

Earle Reed instrument SR3Side2

[00:00:00] (musical performance, 00:00:00 - 00:01:17)

Q: [Yeah. Yeah. Yeah.?] [Oh you been long with Big show and?] you must [travel this Big?].

A: Yeah. Yeah [I been?] (inaudible) [road for Europe?],
Cincinnati. Cincinnati [Rojo oh oh new yoh?].
(vocalization 00:01:41 - 00:01:44)

Q: Uh, how do you spell [that?]?

A: Uh, capital O-H 10. Yes, uh, uh, we used to live in [Rome?], we had a farm in Rome. [00:02:00]

Q: You had a farm in Rome?

A: Yes, we had a farm in Rome (inaudible) we had 1,000 chickens and 999 laid eggs.

Q: Well, uh, uh, what happened to the other one?

A: Oh, well, he was the headman, ah. Yeah, well, I'll meet you down at the post office at seven o'clock, ah. If I get there first I'll make a blue line, if you get there first, uh, you -- you rub it out, uh.

Q: Boy, what was their idea about you with that dogcatcher?

A: Oh, I wasn't arguing with that dogcatcher, he just was trying to put me in his wagon, he did, ah.

Q: Aw, he wasn't trying to put you in his wagon, he was trying to put your dog in his wagon.

A: Yes, but he already had [00:03:00] him.

Q: Oh, well, what kind of dog was it anyway? Was it an Airedale?

A: No, no, no.

Q: Was it a spitz?

A: No, we [broke my leg?]. No, he was a long kind of a dog, he was about two dogs long and about half a dog high. And he wouldn't eat meat, ah.

Q: Gee, I -- I -- I never heard of a dog what wouldn't eat meat.

A: Well, you heard of him, he wouldn't eat it. (laughs)

Q: Well, what was the reason for that? (laughs)

A: We didn't give him any. No, and the other day he was crossing the railroad track and before he got by, before he got all by, the train just comes and is cutting his tail off, what do you know about that?

Q: Oh boy, that's bad, when a dog gets his tail cut off.

A: He ain't got nothing to guide him, nothing to balance him.

Q: True, [00:04:00] true.

A: Yes, well, the only reason that I can figure is that he must have paused too long, ah. Well, certainly must have hurt his carriage. Well, I don't -- nothing about hurting his carriage but he sure ruined his wagon. [00:04:30]
